Lloyd H. Silvernail, seaman, of Bainbridge, is reported among the Covington's missing.
He is the only son of Saron Sil-vernail. His home is outside the village toward West Bainbridge. The family could not be reached by telephone last night. It was reported, however, that the missing man enlisted in the navy a year ago last spring.

Washington, D. C., July 5.—The American army transport Covington, homeward bound after landing several thousand soldiers in France was torpedoed and sunk in the war zone last Monday night. Six members of the crew are missing but all the other men, with the ship's officers have been landed at a French port. No army personnel or passengers were aboard.

The Covington formerly was the Hamburg-American liner Cincinatti, which was laid up at Boston and taken over when the United States entered the war.
She was 603 feet long, of 16,339 gross tons and had a speed of 15 1/2 knots an hour.

The Covington is the second of the great German liners seized at the outbreak of the war to be sent down by Germany's sea wolves and is the third American transport to be destroyed.

Bainbridge Man Missing.
The men missing are Ernest C. Anderson, fireman, Lynn, Mass.; Joseph P. Boden, seaman, Mountain Lakes, N. J.; Ambrose C. Ford, fireman, Somerville, Mass.; William Henry Lynch, Jr., fireman, Manchester, N. H.; Albert S. Paine, seaman, West New Brighton, S. I.; Lloyd H. Silvernail, seaman, Bainbridge, N. Y.

The navy department's announcement tonight of the torpedoing of the Covington said none of the officers and men landed were "seriously injured." Apparently some of them were hurt but the number probably was not given in Vice Admiral Sims' dispatch.
The Covington was struck at 9:17 o'clock Monday night while proceeding with a fleet of other transports convoys by destroyers. The submarine was not sighted. The transport remained afloat until Tuesday, when efforts were made by another vessel and two tugs to tow her to port, but she was too badly damaged to keep afloat.

Torpedo Strikes Forward.
"The torpedo struck forward of the main room bulkhead," the navy department's report says, "and the engine room and fire room were rapidly flooded. With its motor power gone, the vessel was helpless and facing the possibility of the torpedoing of another ship in the convoy, the Covington was temporarily abandoned. This was done in excellent order and the officers and the crew were taken on board a destroyer. The submarine was not seen."

"At daybreak, the captain, several officers and a number of members of the crew returned to supervise salvaging operations. Another vessel and two tugs took the Covington in tow in the effort to get her to port, but she was too badly damaged to keep afloat and sank."

"Vessels have been searching for the missing men and the navy department awaited the report of the names of those missing, which was not received until today, before announcing the sinking of the vessel."

Sultan's Death Thought Work of Revolutionists

London, England, July 5.—Reports reached London from Dutch sources that the death of the Sultan of Turkey, Mohammed V., which took place on Wednesday night, was not due to natural causes and presumably was part of a revolutionary movement in the Ottoman empire.

AMERICAN YOUTH KILLS SEVEN GERMANS ALONE

Another Lad, Severely Wounded, Accounts For Two Huns—
Our Work Praised

London, Eng., July 5.—The Americans who took part in the fighting on Thursday at Villers-Bretonneux were delighted with their share in the battle, says the Reuter's correspondent at British headquarters telegraphing from the front. He says they were quite new to any sort of warfare and described the barrage fire as equal to the finest Fourth of July celebration.

A young corporal, only 21 years of age, although too badly wounded to be taken immediately to the hospital and in great pain gave his experience with relish the correspondent says.
The American had killed seven Germans which he considered to be more than a fair equivalent for his wounds.
The young American's story follows:

"With a few others I was working around a corner of Vaire wood when I came across some German machine guns in a wheat field. They were firing some special type of bullet which is used against tanks. One of these wounded me in the thigh. I nevertheless crept closely enough to throw a bomb which fell on one of the guns and killed all four members of its crew. I saw a man running from behind the gun toward a dugout and I followed and shot him."

"As I was retracing my steps a sixth German stole from behind and made a thrust at me with his bayonet.
I was again wounded, but the German paid for his exploit with his life.
I received my third wound from a German whom I overcame just before fainting from pain and loss of blood."

The correspondent tells of another mere boy who described his adventures in the fight. He had been in some severe combats when the troops carried the trenches beyond Hamel and had been badly wounded in the leg.
While he was lying helpless two Germans ran at him with fixed bayonets.
Leaping down with his head on his rifle, he just managed to pull the trigger and a bullet went through the nearest German who was about a dozen yards away. The other still came on and the young man managed to rise, parry the German's bayonet thrust and bring the stock of his rifle down on his opponent's head. A surgeon's party found him lying with the two Germans beside him.

LOWELL TEXTILE STRIKE ENDS

Lowell, Mass., July 5.—The strike of textile workers here ended tonight when Henry B. Endicott, executive manager of the state committee on public safety, who had been agreed upon as mediator, awarded the operatives the 3 percent increase in wages they demanded. The award takes effect as of June 17.

AMERICAN ACES DIE IN FRANCE

Paris, France, July 5.—(Havas Agency)—Two American aviators were killed today when the machine in which they were flying at a low altitude fell to the ground in flames.
The aviators were Lieut. William Dudley Robins and Second Lieut. John Wilford of the American army. The bodies of the aviators were burned to a crisp.

INCREASES FOR R. R. SHOPMEN

Washington, D. C., July 5.—Recommendations of the railway wage board on the question of increased pay and working conditions of railroad shopmen have been completed and forwarded to Director General McCledee at San Francisco. This announcement was made tonight by the railroad administration.

ALLIED WAR COUNCIL MEETS

Paris, France, July 5.—(Havas Agency)—The supreme allied war council held its seventh session today.
All the aspects of the present military situation were considered and important decisions were reached, according to an official statement issued at its close. Among those present was Gen. John J. Pershing.

PILOTS DIE IN ACCIDENT

Washington, D. C., July 5.—Thomas MacMillan Waddell, an aviation pilot, and Edward Charles Kneip, an observer, were killed in an aviation accident in France July 1, the navy department announced today. Waddell lived at Hinesdale, Ill., and Kneip is of New York city.

RESERVE OF MEN AND AIR POWER CHANGE WARFARE

Hard Blows By Allied Forces Show New
Major Battle

TAKING THE OFFENSIVE

General Foch No Longer Conserving His Man Power to Ward Off German Thrusts

STRIKING HUNS AT WEAK PLACES

Vantage Points Being Wrenched From Enemy Embarrassing His Many Preparations

Washington, D. C., July 5.—Increasing man power and rapidly extending control of the air have permitted the adoption of a new policy by Gen. Foch, supreme commander of the Allied army on the western front, in the opinion of many observers here. They believe the sequence of hard local blows that have been struck recently by French, American, British and Italian troops show that a new phase of the great battle is developing which might expand into a major operation on any part of the front where the situation was found favorable.

Reports of the recent highly successful strokes at the German lines are taken here to indicate that General Foch no longer feels under the urgent necessity of keeping rigidly on the defensive in order to conserve his forces for the expected renewal of the German offensive. The fact that the Germans have been completely surprised and overwhelmed by several of the local counter operations is believed to be due to the work of the Allied airmen.

In both cases, American aid has already served to change the tide of the fighting. The arrival of American troops by the hundreds of thousands has enabled General Foch to begin harassing the enemy all along the line, while the increasing number of American pilots makes possible concentration of air forces that sweep enemy scouts from the sky in the sectors selected for limited drives.

Hit Enemy at Vulnerable Spots

The American attacks around Chateau Thierry, the French operations on the Soissons front, the Compi-egne salient, and the British operations on both sides of the Somme and in Flanders probably were prompted by the fact that the weakness of the enemy at those particular points had been revealed by airplane observation or as a result of raids at other points. Quick advantage was taken undoubtedly for surprise blows where German reserves were on the move. It is assumed here that General Foch now plans to give the enemy no rest.
Points of vantage held by him which would be of value as the starting place for a new major thrust, are being recaptured all along the line. The effect is to embarrass German preparations and officers here believe that the fact that any of these local operations by the Allies may suddenly develop into a most important movement tends to keep the German reserves scattered all along the whole front. The activity of the Allied forces is believed by observers here to be a wholly new aspect on the problem of meeting the forthcoming German effort to renew his movements, either toward the channel ports or Paris. Possibilities of feints at remote parts of the line to cover the developments of the real attack until it is well under way are believed to be less promising as it is the Allies who are now creating diversions and not the Germans.

It is regarded as quite probable that General Foch will be able to form accurate estimates of the cost and strength of the blow before it is delivered and make his concentration of reserves accordingly. If so, officers here have hopes that the German assault, when it does come, can be stopped without any considerable surrender of territory.

The advantage of the increasing man power of the Allied army that observers believe is certain to be apparent in the next German push will be the possibility of Allied thrusts at other points along the line, thus compelling the shifting of German reserves to meet these attacks.

LAUNCH 17 WAR VESSELS

Washington, D. C., July 5.—Seventeen American war vessels were launched on Independence day, the navy department announced tonight and the keels of eight others were laid. The craft put overboard included 14 destroyers, a gunboat and two mine sweepers.

Transport, Afire, Races Back to an Atlantic Port

Washington, D. C., July 5.—The United States army transport Henderson has been afloat at sea, but has made an Atlantic port safely. There was no loss of life.
Few details could be had at the navy department tonight, but it was said the vessel was not badly damaged. It was not made known whether the Henderson was outbound or homeward bound, nor was there any information as to how the fire occurred.

BRITISH DESERTERS CAUGHT

TWO YOUNG MEN, WORKING FOR D. & H., LEFT VESSEL ON ARRIVAL IN NEW YORK.

Police, Tipped Off, Bluff Seaman Into Confession—Search Made of Roundhouse in Early Morning Hours—At First Denied Charge—Saw Action in Battle of Jutland.

John Duncan, alias "Bill Williams," a Scotchman, aged 22, and Robert A. V. Butler, alias, "Arthur Young," a Cockney Englishman, 22 years old, self-confessed deserters from the British navy, were arrested early yesterday morning by Officers Horton and Brown of the local police.
They will be taken to New York and turned over to the senior naval officer of the British recruiting mission there.

Both men, who lived at 7 High street since coming to this city three weeks ago, deserted their ship, the British convoy vessel, Nauric, June 5 at New York as part of a plot laid by 18 of the crew to absent themselves without leave. From the metropolis they went to the mines in Pennsylvania, but not liking the work nor the place, wandered north until they secured work as machinists' helpers at the D. & H. roundhouse here.

They gave their reason for taking "French leave," the low pay they were receiving. They had been serving with the British navy in the North sea but were transferred to the English merchant marine. With the change came a decrease in pay amounting to about $2 ($40) a month.

Bringing to their fellow workmen about their good fortune in getting away from the ship led to the apprehension of the men. Officer Horton was tipped off, and with Policeman Brown and several others visited the roundhouse at 2 a. m. yesterday morning to get Butler who was in the night shift. There, amid a din of puffing, laboring locomotives being shunted into stalls for inspection or out of them into the night to haul freight, and sometimes being forced to peer through clouds of steam or smoke, a vain search was made.
Butler, in telling the story later, said that when he saw a man enter the huge roundhouse wearing a straw hat, he feared he was being sought out.
"I just slipped out of sight," he said,
"and each time the officers came my way I ducked."

The police then went to 7 High street, where they routed Duncan out of bed. The young man told an apparently straightforward story that he was only 19 years old and had come to America three weeks ago.
He and his pal, he said, were not deserters from the British navy, in fact had never been in it. They had come here merely in search of work.
With nothing tangible to work upon, the police could not arrest them even under the new, inter-allied draft law for not having registration cards.

Not long after a telephone message was received from the roundhouse that Butler had been seen heading out of the building and toward High street, evidently to get his "bunkie" and skip. When caught by the police on West street, he denied he was a deserter until Officer Horton turned upon him sharply with a bluff that his mate had admitted the charge.
Then he meekly confessed. Duncan was taken into custody at his rooming house.

Word was received last night from the British consul general at New York, in answer to a telegram of inquiry, to deliver the men to the naval authorities at that city. An endeavor will be made, however, to have someone sent here to get them.

Both men have seen considerable fighting between the British and German navies. Butler is a seaman gunner, having served seven years. Duncan has been in for three years as a seaman. This was their first trip to the United States. The boys were present at the great battle of Jutland, in which the Huns were utterly routed and put to flight after an engagement lasting from 3:30 p. m. until 1 o'clock the next morning. They tell an interesting story of how the British with only four cruisers to meet the attack held the enemy off for two hours until the main fleet bore in sight.

In telling about the use of dummy ships, rigged up to resemble some large vessels of the line and decoy the Teutons, Duncan said that his ship was reported sunk three times, but in each case it was a camouflage vessel that was sent to the bottom.

HOUSE APPROVES PLAN

Resolution Adopted By Lower Body 221 to 4—Senate Gets Measure Today

W. U. HEAD HOLDS TO HIS POLICY

Says, His Company Cannot Change Methods Even Though Big Strike Impends

Washington, D. C., July 5.—While the house was hastily adopting the resolution authorizing the government operation during the war of all telegraph, telephone, cable and radio systems in the United States, senate leaders tonight received word from President Wilson which they interpreted as indicating his willingness to have final enactment of the resolution postponed until after congress returns from its midsummer vacation.

Leaders in both houses tonight went ahead with the plans for a recess late tomorrow night until August 12, and it was said that they would be through unless President Wilson tomorrow insists upon immediate passage of the telegraph resolution by the senate. After conferences with senate leaders, Majority Leader Kitchen gave notice in the house tonight that tomorrow after disposition of the conference reports on the army and agricultural appropriation bill he would offer a concurrent resolution for a recess until August 12.

The telegraph resolution was adopted by the house tonight by a vote of 221 to 4, after a spirited debate, in which democratic leaders said the President had expressed a desire for its passage at once and some republicans have charged that the authority proposed for the President would be used to further the interest of the Democratic party. To expedite passage of the resolution the house previously had adopted by a viva voce vote a ruling limiting general debate to two hours.

The resolution will be sent to the senate tomorrow with leaders there planning its reference to the interstate commerce committee for study and probably hearings during the recess. Regardless of the recess plans senate leaders said its adoption by next Monday, the date for which the strike for operators employed by the Western Union Telegraph company is called, is not probable. Should the President insist tomorrow upon immediate action—which leaders regard as doubtful—administration spokesmen said that undoubtedly the recess would be delayed several days.

Must Continue Policy, Says Carlton

New York, July 5.—While asserting that he did not wish, through any act of his, "to add an hour's delay to the nation's telegraph service," New-comb Carlton, president of the Western Union Telegraph company, declared tonight, in a statement dealing with the telegraphers' strike scheduled for next Monday, that it is of the "highest importance" that this policy his company has pursued should be continued.

"I do not wish to leave this position with the stigma of having made a great mistake," he said. "I have but one desire, and that is to turn the company over to the government as it is now—a loyal, efficient, disciplined force of 55,000 men and women, anxious to serve their country and pride in that service."

He asserted that if the government fails to take over the wires before Monday, he was confident telegraph communication in this country would not be interrupted and that, if matters were allowed to go on as they were, "the contention which the company has been making as to the unquestioned loyalty of the men and women of the Western Union would be demonstrated beyond a doubt."

He added, however, that if he thought there would be the slightest interruption of service on Monday, he would willingly yield for the sake of the government.

Farm Houses Raided in Neighborhood of Dublin

London, England, July 5.—A press association dispatch from Dublin says that the police of Bal-liscloske, County Galway, have raided farm houses within a radius of 50 miles, seizing hundreds of guns and arms of various descriptions. The raids were carried out simultaneously before daylight and extended into the adjoining counties of Roscommon and Kings. There was no resistance except in a few instances where the presence of arms was denied but the weapons afterwards were surrendered. The country people were surprised, not expecting such drastic action in view of the recent proclamation of Viscount French, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, calling for recruits.

There also were a number of arrests in the outlying districts in connection with alleged opposition to the discharge of police duties and the carrying out of the recruiting proclamation.

A RECORD-BREAKING PICNIC

Over Three Thousand Attend Annual Gathering of Osego County Holstein Club at Hartwick Seminary—Eloquent Speech by Governor Whitman—Fifty-Seven Choice Animals Sold.

The Osego County Holstein-Friesian club has for several years held its annual outing, basket picnic and consignment sale at Hartwick Seminary, and each year the outing has been a pronounced success. Hundreds have gathered each year, among them breeders from this and adjoining counties, and always the verdict has been most satisfactory as regards interest and attendance. This year, however, the picnic outstripped all its predecessors, and it is likely that all events of like sort in this county will hereafter take as basis for comparison the high Holstein Breeders' meeting of 1918.

The crowd began to gather early in the forenoon, and before 10 o'clock all previous records in the way of picnics had been passed. Still the cars and other vehicles continued to roll in, and at 1 o'clock a careful but probably not complete count made the number of autos over 600. With an average of five occupants, the attendance would have been 3,000 persons, but the actual attendance was much larger, as many arrived later. Besides the Osego breeders and their friends, there were at least 80 cars from Schoharie county. Montgomery county Farm bureau men made the trip in a body, and there were also flooded representations from Chenango and Herkimer.

Dinner was of the picnic variety, but ice cream and lemonade were served by the ladies of the seminary.
Of ice cream alone there were over 100 gallons consumed.

The sale of the 57 animals consigned by members of the club began at about 11 o'clock, with Col. E. V. Kelley of Syracuse as auctioneer, and Stanley S. Kinne of Hartwick Seminary as sales manager. Music preceding the auction and during the entire day was furnished by the Burlington Flats Cornet band, an excellent musical organization. Prior to the sale Col. Kelly announced that a collection for the benefit of the local Red Cross would be taken. This was done, and a liberal sum was realized. The first sale was of a calf for the benefit of the Red Cross. It was knocked down for $50 to Herbert Bernard of Schenevus, who promptly presented it to the Red Cross to sell again. It brought $25 on the second sale. The last animal also was a calf sold for the benefit of the Red Cross, and it brought $45. Altogether the Hartwick Seminary branch of the Cooperstown Red Cross, which has just been organized, will start off with a substantial surplus of over $300 as a result of the picnic.

A complete list of the animals sold is not at this time available. However, they were 37 in number and the total sum realized was $11,700, which is an average of over $200 per animal. A list of animals sold will probably be given later. The managers of the sale report that the results were entirely satisfactory.

The event of the afternoon was the presence of Governor Charles S. Whitman, who came from Richfield Springs for the purpose afterwards going to Cooperstown, where he spoke later in the afternoon. Governor Whitman was briefly introduced by Rev. Granville Rathbun of Oneonta, and for twenty minutes he was a regular gathering of verbal fireworks. He began with expression of his pleasure in coming to Hartwick Seminary and in meeting there his numerous well-known even if unknown friends, "You and I," he said, "work for one common purpose, which is for the New York to come. We are trying to do our duty for ourselves and our children; the state has been called on to do the big thing for the world and humanity, and the country to do the big thing for which the foundations were laid by our ancestors in the Declaration which today we commemorate." He arraigned the German hierarchy, and in consideration of the part we are taking called attention to the fact that our present share is but little as compared with that of New York in 1861.

Referring briefly to the work of the farmers and their interests, he called attention to the appropriation of $160,000 in payment for diseased farm animals, and to the fact that now for the first time the farmer could obtain payment for animals slaughtered by the state within a reasonable period after the animals are taken.
In conclusion he stated that if we have as in 1861, this state alone would have 1,100,000 men in the field at the end of the year. No such demand has been made, but it is our duty to give of men and of food and of effort in every line, and to keep giving. We cannot say how much or how long, but to keep giving until the holy cause of humanity is won and the boys of the nation return home victorious.

HUNS FAIL IN ENDEAVOR TO RETAKE HAMEL

ITALIANS CONTINUE TO ADVANCE

Finland Expected to Enter War on Side of Germany—Czech-Slovak Victory

(By Associated Press).

The British front of Amiens and east side of the Avre and along the Somme river seems to be the storm center of the battle front in France. Here the Australians, assisted by American detachments, surged forward on July 4 and drove the Germans out of the village of Hamel and the Vaire and Hamel woods to the south, at the same time launching a secondary attack on the German positions north of the Somme.
Since that time the lines before Amiens have been very active.

Repulse Huns at Hamel

The Germans have been repulsed in an attempt to retake the village of Hamel and the wooded positions of the Australians further south. The British official report says that the enemy was stopped easily, but the Germans claim to have checked the British forces east of Hamel and to have thrown them back to their original line at Villers Bretonneux. With the exception of aerial combats, the American front has been calm. The German official statement tells of British attacks in the Xpres region, adding that these assaults were repulsed. Heavy artillery fire in this neighborhood is reported from London.

In the meantime, the French have been content to hold and consolidate their new positions near Moulin-Sous-Touvent and Autrech, northwest of Soissons, where in two recent French attacks the Germans suffered severe casualties and lost many prisoners.
The French war office says that during the past day there has been heavy artillery firing in the neighborhood of Curry and Mont Gobert, which is on the front southwest of Soissons, where the French won ground by a dashing attack last week.

Italians Continue Advance

Italian forces, operating near the mouth of the Piave river, have continued to make progress in recent fighting, and have taken more than 400 prisoners, as well as a battery of cannon and many machine guns. In the mountain region, the Italians have extended their lines northeast of Monte Grappa and have repulsed desperate counter attacks by the Austrians against positions taken from them in the Italian drive a week ago.

Stockholm reports that Finland is expected to declare war on the Entente Allies. This is probably the result of German pressure incident to the landing of Allied forces at Kola, on the Murman coast. It has been reported that German and Finnish troops are pushing northward toward the port of Kola to seize vast stores transported there before Russia's collapse as a factor in the war.

The Czech-Slovak troops, operating in Eastern Siberia, are reported to have won a victory over the Bolshevik forces which have been holding Irkutsk. Reports from London say that the Bolshevik army, which includes a great many German and Austrian prisoners of war, has been driven out of the region of Irkutsk and into the country east of Lake Baikal.

BRITISH FLIERS AID INFANTRY

London, England, July 5.—British aerial forces co-operated with the land forces in yesterday's attack against the Germans south of the Somme, according to an official statement on aviation operations issued tonight. Eleven German airplanes were destroyed and ten driven down out of control as a result of the combat. Four British machines are missing.

Referring briefly to the work of the farmers and their interests, he called
attention to the appropriation of $160,000 in payment for diseased farm
animals, and to the fact that now for
the first time the farmer could obtain payment for animals slaughtered

"HAIL SHIPBUILDERS!"
CRIES ARMY AT FRONT
ON JULY 4 LAUNCHINGS.

Washington.—A cablegram received from General Pershing in reply to one sent by Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board said:

"The launching of 100 ships on the Fourth of July is the most inspiring news that has come to us.

"All ranks of the army in France send their congratulations and heartfelt thanks to their patriotic brothers in the shipyards at home.

"No more defiant answer could be given to the enemy's challenge. With such backing we cannot fail to win. All hail American shipbuilders!"

Ships in June Break Records.
Washington.—Ship production in the United States in June amounted to 280,400 deadweight tons, making the total 1918 production to date 1,504,670 tons.

The June production, which is at the rate of 3,840,000 tons a year, is a new record for the United States and is the greatest output of ocean going tonnage ever completed in any one month by any nation. It comes within 15,000 tons of the world's record for shipbuilding, made by the British shipyards in May, which included all classes of vessels.

Of the month's output steel ships totaled 282,900 tons and wooden ships 17,500 tons. The number of vessels was not announced, as it was discovered that several had been put into service so quickly after delivery that inspectors had not made reports on them to the Shipping Board's statistical department.

Tonnage figures were available from the division of operations.
An amazing growth in output was disclosed by detailed figures for the four weeks of June. In the first week six ships of 24,430 deadweight tons were delivered, the second week ten more of 64,782 tons were added, and in the third week the average for the month was made one a day by the completion of five ships, totaling 61,280 tons.

Mahometan "Marriages."
According to Arabian historians, Mahomet had only nine wives, who, however, cannot be regarded as wives at all. Thus Mahomet, after he became an old man, married, or rather adopted, Ayesha, the seven-year-old child of his faithful friend, Abu Bakr. Again he married or admitted to his household a scolding old widow, whom Omar and Abu Bakr refused to receive. Among Mahometans marriage has a different meaning than that which it has among Americans. It means merely a tie of guardianship or protection.

Indians of Chile.
The Araucanians are the primitive race of Chile, and one of the fiercest of all the American Indian tribes. Although the remaining Indians are wards of the government not unlike those in this country, the tribe is said never to have been formally conquered. Furthermore, the blood of the Araucanians is widely disseminated and gives to the Chilean people their distinctive character.

Step Combination Sales.

"Combination sales" are forbidden under a new ruling of the Massachusetts food administration. "Combination sales" are, according to the definition of the food administration, any sales of two or more commodities, or different kinds or sizes, at a price effective only if they are bought at the same time.

ONEONTA MEETS DEFEAT.

Roxbury Club Wins One-Sided Game by 8 to 1 Score.

On July 4 Oneonta journeyed to Roxbury and was defeated in a fast played game by the score of 8 to 1 for its second defeat of the season, before a large crowd.

Oneonta scored its only run in the first. With two men down, Thomas beat out an infield hit, went to second on a short passed ball and scored on Dibble's long drive to center for two bases. Roxbury evened this in the half of the first, added one in the second and pointed out hits for four more in the third. There was no more scoring until the eighth when Roxbury hung up two markers. Oneonta had several chances to score but were unable to hit with men on the paths.

The game was fast and featured by the heavy hitting of the Roxbury team and the all around work of Dibble, Oneonta's shortstop, who secured two of Oneonta's four hits and played a star fielding game.

Score by Innings:

Roxbury 114000002—8 15 2 Oneonta 100000000—1 4 2

Today the locals will play the Moonshiners, a fast local organization, accepting their challenge. The game will start at 3:30 p. m. Manager Damaschke hopes that his team has recovered from its present slump and will play as earlier in the season.

Teacher Smiles at Technical Violation of Law by School Boys in Kansas.

Leavenworth, Kan.—A Leavenworth teacher who has a fourth grade class, is the idol of the boys of the town. The other day, during her geography class, a picture of the Kaiser was found in the book.

The boys openly tore out the offending page with the picture of Kaiser Wilhelm. The girls, more timid, pasted paper over his face. The teacher smiled and let it go.

There is a state law in Kansas about destroying public school books.

Be Cheerful.

We ought to be as cheerful as we can, if only because to be happy ourselves is a most effective contribution to the happiness of others.—Sir John Lubbock.

"The work that the Red Cross is doing in France this winter is worth more than a million and a half American soldiers in the lines in France today."
—General Petain.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

The New York Markets.
New York, July 5.—One third of today's light trading in stocks occurred in the final hour, the early and intermediate stages of the session being punctuated by frequent pauses. The movement tended steadily upward.

United States Steel and independent issues of that division furnished the greater proportion of the day's operations, although oils, motors, tobacco and minor war contract issues contributed moderately. Investment rails were again relegated to the background. Reading as usual proving the only exception. New York Central and New Haven responded to a belated recovery. With United States Steel, which made a net gain of 1 1/2, were Bethlehem and Crucible steels at extreme gains of 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 points, and Railway Steel Springs and the motor and their subsidiaries at advances of the same extent.

Petroleum derived much of the advance from Royal Dutch Oil, which jumped 7 1/2 points on announcement from abroad of an 18 per cent final dividend for 1917, but yielded one-half of its gain later. Sales amounted to 290,000 shares. Liberty issues were inclined to share, but the general list was firmer. Total sales, par value, $3,550,990. Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

THREE SONS ARE FIGHTING

Mother Wants to Engage in Some War Work That Will Take Her to France.

St. Paul, Minn.—Mrs. P. Holstrom of No. 690 Conway street has three sons fighting for Uncle Sam, and she herself is planning to go into some kind of war work that will take her to France.

Enoch Holstrom, a graduate of Cornell university, went to France with an engineering unit, and during a phase of the present German offensive twenty-two American engineers were killed around him, but he came through unscathed. He was promoted for his bravery under fire from second to first lieutenant.

Harry Holstrom, twenty-two years old, is on the ocean somewhere chasing submarines.

Ben Holstrom, twenty years old, who joined his brother in the fight against the Kaiser, though he is not of draft age, is in the aviation section and now is awaiting orders.

All of the boys graduated from Merchant Arts High school. The two later attended Cornell university.

Beet-Sugar Production.

In 1917 a Berlin chemist discovered that sugar could be obtained from beets, and since then the percentage of sugar has been increased so considerably by selective breeding of the vegetables that nowadays a ton of it is derived from nine tons of the roots. The average person in this country consumes two-thirds of his own weight of sugar in a year.

BARBERS REMOAN TRADE LOSS

Women Who Are Taking Men's Places in Industries Are Not Helping Tonsorial Artist.

Memphis, Tenn.—Women taking the place of men in the industrial world may be filling the jobs all right, but they are not helping the barber.

Visit any tonsorial establishment and ask the man who wields the gleaming blade. He will tell you some of his best customers have gone—gone to fight the Germans. And he will tell you that all the women who took their places are strangers to him.

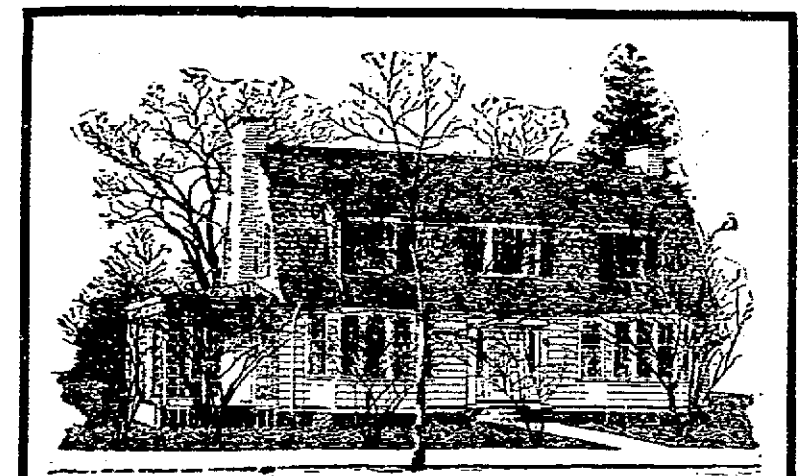

While the barber complains the "beauty doctor" has a different story to tell. She says her patrons are more numerous than ever before, and they are more liberal. They spend money lavishly. A few dollars to remove a wrinkle that has appeared as a result of business worries is handed over without a murmur. Powder and paint and toilet water are used lavishly.

Concerning the Farmer.

Let us not be deceived by politicians or self conceit. Farmers are not perfect. Nor have they a monopoly upon honesty and integrity. As a class we have the unfaithful as well as the faithful, the deserving as well as the dishonest, the honest as well as the dishonest. Men are not perfect in any occupation.—Exchange.

Do Your Best.

To do less than our best any day is to lose our efficiency.

Homes that Mean Most

A HOUSE can only be distinctive insofar as it expresses or reflects the character of its owner—good taste—careful thought and planning—the right sense of proportion—and a desire to provide for your family a home to be always remembered and of which to be always proud.

You can build as attractive a home out of wood as you can out of any other material—at less cost and with equal safety. But any material must be put together according to the rules of design and good taste if the result is to be pleasing and attractive—if it is to stand for the things you mean it to stand for.

WHITE PINE

is the best lumber known for home-building because it does not warp or twist or rot even after generations of exposure to the weather.

That is why architects all over the country specify it for "Quality Homes."

Valuable suggestions on both design and materials are contained in our booklet—"White Pine in Home-Building." Come in or phone us.

Are You Wasting a Room in Your House or Apartment?

In these war-times you must conserve and wisely use all of your resources. If you have a spare room in your home, rent it to a desirable tenant—and make the income from it count as one of your resources.

A spare room, rented, is an asset. Unused, it is a liability. A trifling expenditure for classified advertising will solve the problem for you—as well as for the man or woman who is looking for just such a one-room home as you can offer.

LOCALLY OF INTEREST.

The Auto and the Farmer.

There was a time when the auto was almost entirely a vehicle for city and village use. They were owned in towns and the farmers who had cars of any kind were exceptions to the general rule. This is no longer the case. At the annual picnic of Holstein-Friesian breeders of Otsego county, held at Hartwick Seminary on Thursday, as will be noted from a more extended notice which appears in another column, there were at one time over six hundred cars parked at that place. These cars represented, after depreciations were taken into account, not less than half a million dollars in actual value at the moment, and they were practically all of them owned by the farmers of Otsego and adjoining counties. This is a careless way to state it. In fact they were most of them owned, not by the farmers as a whole, but by the breeders of one sort of cattle—the Holsteins.

Such a showing of autos at a rural picnic indicates to the observer at least three things. One is that the farmers of the country are among the most prosperous of its citizens—as indeed they deserve to be, since on them depends the feeding of the nation. Another is that they are among the most provident in the broad sense that they not only receive money but that they save it. And the third is that they are among the most observant, since they have come to know that the vehicle which shortens otherwise wasted time for the townsman will do the same thing for them. The horse is no longer commanded in hurry time to come to the city for supplies—the auto does the trick satisfactorily and in much less time, and the farm work meanwhile goes on.

To the average citizens of the town the motor car is pleasure and a convenience. To the farmer it becomes a real labor saver.

The Auto in the City.

The facts above enumerated have added significance when it is considered that all these cars are frequently in the city, where they are driven by the owners on business errands. In general the stay is not long, but they must be left somewhere while their owners are in the stores, markets and banks. The time during which they remain is not long, not long enough in most instances to justify placing them in garages or taking them to remote parts of the city. As a result they are parked quite generally along the business streets, the limited space on which is still further shortened by the necessary street corner requirements and the distance on either side of hydrants.

If this were a merely temporary matter, such as fair and circus days and other days of observance, it would be accepted by visitors and citizens alike with good grace, but the number of cars is steadily increasing, and the demands for space are increasing. As a business proposition, as well as a matter of courtesy, the city welcomes all visitors. What it must do, therefore, is to devise some adequate plan by which the cars can be conveniently left, and where the drivers will meet with the minimum of trouble. This is a difficult problem, particularly in a town which like Topsy, "growsed," and which therefore has inherited streets much too narrow for proper handling of modern traffic, but it is one to which the city authorities may well give careful study and consideration. Just to the extent to which the city can make things easy for visitors, to that extent it will be in every sense benefited.

The Auto on the Fourth.

A glance over the pages of The Star this morning will reveal a surprisingly small number of accidents of any kind in this vicinity on the Fourth of July. This is the more remarkable because the day was perfect for touring, and everybody who had a car and the necessary gasoline was out enjoying the holiday. From earliest morning until long after midnight the streets and the state roads were thronged with cars, all well kept and the occupants all out for a day's delight at patriotic meetings, picnics and other gatherings in towns near or remote. With half as many cars on other occasions, the accidents have not, infrequently been manifold more numerous.

It is fair to draw the conclusion from this that drivers are becoming more careful, that there is a growing familiarity with the use of machines, and that the war and other conditions have bred a seriousness in the minds of men which has one of its manifestations in the care and driving of cars.

Also there should be credit given to the self-evident fact that the Fourth was not observed as a season of drinking and of unbecoming indulgence. The cars on Thursday were not driven by John Barleycorn.

To Picnic on Otsego Lake.

The past and present patrons and past and present patrons of the Fourteenth Eastern Star district, and their families, will hold a basket picnic at Three Mile Point, Cooperstown, Wednesday, July 10. A large attendance is desired.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS

A Simple Remedy.

Apple growers in Western New York are conferring as to how the consumption of New York state apples can be increased. Easy, enough. Get them into the hands of the consumers without the necessity of paying several huge profits to middlemen. Apples at from 15 to 25 a barrel, grown in this state in a normal year, smack altogether 100 million of dollars.—[Utica Press.]

Hardly less important than Italy's victory in the war is the wheat harvest this year, for the first time in history, promises to be sufficient to supply the needs of her people.—[Buffalo Express.]

Somebody Can.

Their 100-Per-Cent Loyalty.

Employees of a shipbuilding concern at San Pedro, Cal., have volunteered to give up their Saturday half holiday during June, July and August. Nor will they accept the time-and-a-half pay for this half day. That would seem to prove the 100 per cent character of their Americanism.—[Cincinnati Herald.]

"Germany will sing small, very small, in the end, but we'll answer it like the judge."

The speaker was Provost Marshal General Crowder.

"Yes," he went on, "we'll no more be softened by Germany's penitence than the judge was by the kidnapper who wiped his eyes on his cuff and blubbered:

"Judge, I'm down and out!"

"No, no, my man," said the judge. "You're down, but you're not out yet. You won't be out for seven years."

FROM OREGON ORCHARD TO TOUL ORPHANAGE

Pommes des Etats Unis! Pommes des Etats Unis! American apples! American apples! That is what is in the box on the window sill; that is what is going into the outstretched hands of these war-orphans at Toul, near our Toul sector, over there.

Apples to these children apparently brought back the days before the war when they were like other youngsters. Every apple in the whole box was sent to the orphanage from the American Red Cross seemed possessed of magic: sad little faces radiated content; spindly little legs began to skip.

These are the many children who were gathered into the refuge at Toul from caves and shell holes and ruins back of the old French lines, where they were often under fire, and sometimes gassed—and they never could be made to wear their gas masks when the older people were away, as they were all day, working in the fields or the munition factories.

When the American Red Cross and the American Fund for French Wounded, at the request of Monsieur Mirman, the famous prefect of the district, sent doctors and nurses to take care of them, they found their minds and bodies in frightful ways from the unspeakable things they had seen and been living through. Some of them were like wild things. Some of them will never have all their mental faculties; yet the minds of even these most tragic ones are becoming clearer, and all of the emaciated little bodies are rounding out.

The American Red Cross has made the barracks where they live all cozy and pretty inside; it has put swings and cinder-blocks on the playgrounds, and provided good milk and bread and vegetables and eggs. One of the latest treats was the Oregon apples.

BEEF ONE MEAL A DAY NOW.

Food Administration Modifies Recent Order For Three Beefless Days.

Beef can now be served in restaurants, hotels, and other public eating places in this city each day at the noon meal, according to a decision made last night by County Food Administrator A. Stanley Morris upon the receipt of a telegram from the United States Food administration.

The telegram read: "Beef rules modified permitting the use of beef in public eating places and clubs one meal every day."

The new regulation was heartily welcomed by the restaurateurs of this city who have found it difficult to comply with the former ruling. With three beefless days a week and a jump from Monday to Monday, and week to week on other days, in the forms of beef served, it was a hard matter, say the eating house men, to figure on the quantities of beef to be bought in order that there might be no waste and they might not be forced to keep meat on hand for a week at a time. Under the new order, beef in any form can be served.

Rathbun Barn Struck by Lightning.

The large cow barn of Granville Rathbun on his farm at South Side, was struck by lightning at about seven o'clock last Wednesday evening and narrowly escaped destruction. At the time the cows were in the stable being milked. One of the farm employees was in the barn with them and the other employee was some little distance further away. The lightning, striking the cupola, tore a large hole in the roof and descending set fire to a mow of hay, of several tons, which was in the barn. All three men were stunned by the shock, singularly enough the man in the barn least of all and the one farthest way the most seriously.

The man inside, quickly was on his feet, seeing the fire, rushed out, gave the alarm to the others and the three, using large buckets which fortunately were in the stable, carried water and extinguished the flame before it gained much headway. None of the cows appeared to have been shocked. Although the escape from destruction of the big barn was fortunate, and also miraculous.

CLAPPER DESERTS AGAIN.

Young Man of Otsego Skips Out of Camp.

Henry Clapper of Otsego has deserted again. This time it is from Company M, 32nd infantry, Camp Devens, Mass.

Village President Elmer Ferris of Otsego received word from the young man's company captain, S. R. Green, on Thursday, requesting watch be kept in case the soldier returns to his home. Clapper is the first fellow who appeared with a last quota sent from the First Otsego district, stayed in the city overnight, and on the next morning started after having asked a bystander if he would not go in his place. The deserter was later in the day located at his home and arrested after forced entrance was made. No trace of him has been found.

Whereabouts Still Unknown.

The mystery regarding the disappearance of Linn E. A. Gale grows more mysterious as it develops that he cannot be located by the detective department of the American association, who want him for a check transaction in New York city in May, nor has the federal authorities at Albany who want him for being a "slacker," gotten onto his trail. It is understood that when young Gale left here he was going to Albany to answer to his number in the draft.—[Oxford Review.]

Independence Day —for the World

Little did that handful of patriots think, when signing the Declaration of Independence back in '76 that they were founding a great nation which would some day fight for the freedom and Liberty of the world as it fought for its own.

That day is here. Once again America has taken up arms for the defense of those noble principles for which many of her sons have given up their lives—but she has taken up arms not only for herself, but for the rights and freedom of all mankind.

This year Independence day will not only be celebrated by America, but also by our Allies in this great conflict of right and might—it may well be called the Independence Day of the World.

LOCAL MENTION.

THE FOURTH IN ONEONTA.

Day Passes With Little Noise and No Public Demonstration.

The Fourth of July in Oneonta this year was characterized by a degree of quietude most unusual. There were no public observances whatever, the nearest thereto being several family picnics in Ne-sha-wa park, the golf tournament at the Country club, and the dance and entertainment at Sherman lake, all of them drawing many visitors. Much larger numbers, however, accompanied the boys of Company G to Cooperstown, went with the Holstein breeders of the county to Hartwick Seminary, or for themselves and family organized a quiet outing in the country.

It was throughout a day marked by lack of excitement. There was nearly the usual amount of noise of crackers and torpedoes, and the private displays of fireworks in the evening were good but not extraordinary. Best of all it was a day almost void of accident and unmarred by scenes of drunkenness—such a day in fact as the Fourth of July should always be.

Governor and Mrs. Whitman Guests in City—Leave Early for Binghamton.

The evening until about ten o'clock, was spent by Governor Whitman and wife with Congressman and Mrs. George W. Fairchild, at their pleasant home on Main street, Hon. Charles Smith, who is Republican State committeeman for Otsego county, was a caller during the evening.

The governor and his party, who are traveling in his own car, a Pierce-Arrow which bears the plate "No. 1, N. Y.," will leave at about 8:30 this morning for Binghamton, where this afternoon he will review the Fourth regiment, New York guard, and deliver an address at Endicott.

Two and a half years ago Mr. Crandall's health broke down and he was ordered by his physician to get out in the open. At that time he leased the lunch room to John T. Friends have expressed their pleasure in seeing Mr. Crandall back at the old stand and wish him success.

THE FOURTH AT COOPERSTOWN

GOVERNOR WHITMAN AND JUSTICE KELLOGG SPEAKERS OF DAY.

Large Concourse of Citizens and Visitors Assembled to Do Honor to Occasion and Distinguished Speakers. Company G Has Right of Line—Honor to Lieut. McLaury—Community Dance.

Cooperstown, July 5.—Favored with pleasant weather and with every event on time to the minute, the celebration of July 4th was a very successful affair here.

The crowd began to gather at an early hour and cars were closely packed on all streets leading from Main. The Johnstown newsboys had an outing here and the many members of the various farm bureaus, after enjoying the Holstein-Friesian picnic at Hartwick Seminary returned to this village to augment the gathering already collected.

The early afternoon was devoted to the field day sports that were held in Main street, a portion of which was closed to the public for that purpose. As the town clock was striking four, General W. S. Edgerly, marshal of the day, started the parade. As aids General Edgerly had C. S. Stanton and Lieutenant W. C. Johnston.

The Cooperstown band furnished the music.

The Oneonta and Cooperstown platoons of the home guard acted as military escort to Governor Whitman and Justice A. L. Kellogg of the supreme court, the speakers of the day. The guards made a fine appearance and received hearty applause all along the line of march.

The mule team with supplies followed the guard.

Little Italy's recent work in battle was represented by a float and a number of her loyal sons carried a large Italian flag.

Members of the L. C. Turner Post G. A. R., and James F. Clark camp S. O. V., in automobiles, were next in line.

The Boy Scouts bore flags of all the Allies.

The Ladies' auxiliary to the S. O. V. appeared in goodly numbers and with their tri-colored sashes and white gowns and hats made a very pleasing part of the line.

Mrs. James J. Byard Jr., drove the float bearing the Lafayette chapter, children of the Revolution.

The Cooperstown branch of the American Red Cross was well represented; its service flag with six stars was carried by the ladies at the rear of this part of the line.

The floats were all artistic. The spirit of the Red Cross consisted of a band of refugee children and the mother seeking aid and protection.

Mrs. John E. J. Fanshawe represented the spirit of the Red Cross. Miss Edith Wellman the refugee mother, Kitty Fanshawe, Nathaniel Lounsbury, James Townsend the refugee children; John Fanshawe the wounded soldier.

The Knights of Columbus had a float showing a well guarded home.

The Cooperstown Fire department was well represented and its four companies received well merited applause as our home defenders passed through the streets.

Pathfinder lodge, the girls' school recently opened on the east side of the lake, appeared as Indians and the float was artistically decorated with many Indian relics.

Miss Hale of the Home Economics department of the Farm Bureau had two floats prepared for the occasion: "Food Must Follow the Flag and Can the Kaiser," being the subjects.

The little tots of the Susan Fenimore Cooper foundation rode while the older children marched.

Another float showed a large gun with a company of soldiers and first aid being given a wounded soldier.

The Civic league float was quite artistic. Its shield bore this: "The Civic league of Cooperstown, community spirit, truth, justice, industry, good government, education, cleanliness. Each was represented in the float."

The parade passed down Main street and counter marched to the court house where the large audience had the pleasure of hearing the two speakers already mentioned, Governor Whitman and Justice Kellogg.

Both were able and eloquent presentations of themes which at this time are near to the American heart. Governor Whitman, following closely but more in detail the lines of his earlier brief address at Hartwick Seminary, laid special stress upon the part which New York state is taking in the war, but noted the fact that not as yet had the state even approached the degree of sacrifice which it exhibited in the days of the Rebellion. We have done much and have met every demand made with a loyal spirit, but we still have far to go before that earlier height of supreme endeavor is reached.

Reverting to the words of the Declaration of Independence, the Governor laid emphasis on the fact that the words of that famous document had reference not merely to the people of the then colonies, but to all mankind and that the task in which we are now engaged is to verify in our own acts the declaration which our forefathers made.

The speech by the Governor, which occupied a little less than an hour in delivery, had the tribute of closest attention and of frequent and prolonged applause. He was followed by Justice A. L. Kellogg, who more briefly but not less forcibly presented his facts concerning our history, the present crisis and our obligations to humanity. It was a stirring address, filled with the spirit of the day, and all who listened left the court house with a keener appreciation of his duties in the present hour of peril.

The community dance in the evening was one of the most satisfactory days of national celebration which

NEW NATION'S WANT COLUMN.

Gives Men of June, 1918, Class Opportunity to Enlist for Mechanical Work.

The first opportunity for voluntary induction for registrants of the June, 1918, class was offered by the Local Board last night in the shape of the Fourth Nation's Want Column for men skilled in a variety of trades. Only registrants of the class of June, 1918, and those of the June, 1917, class not needed to fill the July quota are eligible under these calls. The Board announces that inasmuch as every available man in class one in this district will be considered by the July quota, only 1918 registrants will be considered by the induction under this opportunity.

Men skilled in the following trades and occupations are needed: Auto repairmen, axemen, blacksmiths, boatmen, buglers, bridge carpenters, cabinet makers, caulkers, concrete foremen, concrete workers, construction foremen, cooks, draftsmen, electricians, farriers, gas engineers, horse-shoers, lithographers, machinists, photographers, plumbers, powdermen, quarrymen, riggers, saddlers, shoemakers, stationary engineers, surveyors, tailors, teamsters, telephone operators, timbermen, topographers.

White men qualified for general military service are eligible. Applications only will be accepted up to July 16. No inductions will be made until authorization is obtained from the provost marshal general. The successful applicants will be placed in the Engineer corps, destination unknown at the present time. Interested registrants should go to the Local Board at once and list their names for this service. Those who secure induction under this call will receive material personal benefit which will aid them in advancement both in their army career and in after life.

A voluntary call is also announced for white men qualified for limited military service only to entrain July 15 for Camp Johnston, Florida, for service with the Quartermaster's corps as clerks. Further particulars will be published later.

PROMINENT ENGLISHWOMAN.

Niece of Distinguished Actor in Oneonta Next Week Saturday.

Mrs. Beatrice Forbes Robertson Hale, who is scheduled to speak here next Saturday, July 13, is a gifted woman. Not only is Mrs. Hale a talented speaker, but she has been identified with many prominent roles on the English and American stage. She is a niece of Sir Johnston Forbes Robertson, the eminent English actor.

Mrs. Hale has been secured through the efforts of State Food Administrator Charles E. Treman of Ithaca, and through him County Food Administrator A. Stanley Morris has been able to have Mrs. Hale include Oneonta in her brief itinerary in this state. Notwithstanding the fact many communities are endeavoring to have Mrs. Hale speak, this county is favored with her appearance on the above named date. Her message will be brim full of incidents touching the war as she has observed on the other side, and she will give to the housewives of this city and this county a message that will long be remembered. The lecture is free. No one should miss this rare treat.

Sergeant Clarence L. Slade.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Slade of this city have received the gratifying announcement that their son, Corporal Clarence L. Slade, has been promoted and now wears the chevrons of a sergeant. The many friends of the sergeant will congratulate him on his well-deserved promotion.

Why People Steal.

Bonding companies say that last year they paid thirty-one million dollars of losses by theft and that people steal because they cannot restrain themselves from spending more than they earn. They steal to have a good time; to make an impression on a woman, etc., etc. But such poor fools don't have to steal in Oneonta, where a chance is given to place small monthly amounts of $1.00 or more at six per cent compound interest and where several million dollars have thus been accumulated and two million more is now fast being accumulated through the safe Oneonta Building and Loan association, which is protected by state laws, same as savings banks. No wonder that many people are now taking shares in its new series. Just started. Watch it grow and do good. advt. 1.

Cooperstown ever knew. A section of Main street was carefully swept and sprinkled with cornmeal, and on it young and old, residents and visitors alike deposited. The Cooperstown band, which furnished excellent music for the daylight exercises, played equally well with the numbers played for the community dance.

After the formation of Company G for the parade during its visit to Cooperstown Thursday, George H. Carley, in behalf of the Cooperstown platoon of the company, presented to Lieutenant H. D. McLaury a beautiful solid-gold chain and Elks' receipt, case, as a token of appreciation of his services in conducting their weekly drills. The day previous was the lieutenant's birthday and the gift was intended also as a token of congratulations due on that date. The gift was a complete surprise to the recipient, who responded in words of sincere appreciation.

DELAWARE COUNTY NEWS

DEATH FROM DAY TO DAY.

Man Killed Tuesday on Delaware and Northern Railroad.

Delhi, July 5.—John Davidson, aged 65, a section hand on the Delaware and Northern railroad, was killed Tuesday between Pappan and Shaverstown. With four other section men he was on a hand car and a collision occurred with the regular passenger train. The accident is said to have occurred at 1:15 p. m. The other four men on the hand car jumped therefrom and escaped injury. It is claimed that the train was running ahead of schedule time, and that the foreman of the section was not expecting the passenger train thus early. Coroner C. R. Woods of Delhi was called and an inquest was held yesterday, but the railroad officials were not censured for the reason that the section foreman's watch was found to be five minutes slow.

QUEEN CITY OF CALSKILLS.

Robert Lovell of Manorville Struck by Lightning and Killed.

Stamford, July 5.—Robert Lovell, a respected citizen of Manorville, was struck by lightning on Wednesday afternoon while attending to his duties among his stock at his barn. He had left his residence for the barn with a couple of pairs of water to give to his horses and expected to return to the house as soon as that duty was performed. His wife became alarmed at the long continued absence of Mr. Lovell and went to the barn to ascertain the cause and found him prostrate on the floor with porters of his clothing about him. Calling for help she was able to get him to the house and a physician's attention. Mr. Lovell was still alive when brought to his home but he died but a short time after the doctor came. He was a brother-in-law of Clyde More of South Glens and a cousin of Mrs. John Law of Stamford. He leaves behind a wife and one child. The funeral services will be held on Saturday and the interment will be made probably in Stamford cemetery. A peculiar circumstance of the affair was that there had seemed to be, during the man, very little lightning and only rearingly distant muttering and rumbling of thunder. Mr. Lovell's sudden death is greatly deplored and his wife and child have the sympathy of all their neighbors and friends.

Past Masters' Night at St. Andrews.

The annual past masters' night at St. Andrews lodge of Hobart attracted many members from outside to its ceremonies. Several made way down from Stamford and many were present from Oneonta and other outside places. A class of five candidates received the third degree in Masonry.

Following the initiatory ceremonies a most enjoyable lunch was served.

Sunday Picnic Enjoyable Affair.

The officers and teachers with their pupils of the Presbyterian church held the annual Sunday school picnic in Rossmans Park on Thursday. The dinner was served at noon and the afternoon was spent in games and other amusements. The children enjoyed the affair hugely and there was a good attendance. The pastor, Rev. W. D. Cavert, had the picnic in charge and devoted the afternoon to their enjoyment.

Rev. W. D. Cavert Leaves Monday.

Greatly to the regret of all who have had the pleasure and benefit of his acquaintance and especially those who have had the privilege of being associated with him in the work of his pastorate in the Presbyterian church of Stamford, Rev. Walter Dudley Cavert has announced the fact that he is to leave for New York on Monday next to take his examinations for a chaplaincy in the United States army in which he is intending to engage. Mr. Cavert's term as pastor of the Presbyterian church not long in duration has shown his merit and capability. The church has prospered under his direction, the sabbath school has materially increased in membership and a strong feeling of support has been manifested among all members of the congregation to all the works that he has initiated. The organization of the Boy Scouts of which he is the scout master in Stamford will feel his loss keenly, as he had made himself not only a strong favorite with the boys but had constantly kept the organization up to the top notch of efficiency and interest. The best wishes of all his congregation, his friends and the associated ministers of the village will follow him in his chosen career.

PARIS FROWNS ON WAR GENIUS

Perfect Stops Baccarat Games in Bomb-Proof Cellars.

PROMOTER UNDER SUSPICION

Narrow-Minded Police Official Pretends to Think Game Not Entirely Innocent—Aristide Barboin Protests That He is a Much Misunderstood Philanthropist—Police But in on All His Schemes.

Aristide Barboin is in trouble again in Paris. He protests that he is a much misunderstood philanthropist.

It occurred to the thoughtful Aristide that there must be hundreds of travelers and visitors in Paris who would have no safe refuge when the alarm was sounded for an air raid. So he leased, in one of the principal streets, several excellent cellars. He furnished them luxuriously and hung out a blue lantern with the device of a siren upon it. Any one who so desired could take refuge in these cellars in case of an air raid and entirely without charge. Except that if he wished the visitor might buy refreshments or might enjoy joining in a little game of baccarat.

But the police broke it up. A narrow-minded prefect pretended to think that the game was not entirely innocent. Long before the war Aristide, his ally moved by the sad plight of the over-rich, established a sanatorium or cure for them. The patients by paying a sum of $20 a day were permitted to break virgin soil, plant potatoes for him, cut wood and to put up some very handsome buildings by the work of their own hands, which certainly was good for them and good for him. But the authorities stopped that beneficent enterprise.

Bad Luck Since War. Since the war he has had equally bad luck. He started a patriotic restaurant for high class patronage. The prices were high and the service was excellent, but meat, vegetables and desserts were served with the utmost economy (so as to set an example to the lower classes, Aristide pointed out). That failed in time through lack of support from an unpatriotic public.

Then he started a theater, "The Moral Theater" he called it. This really was a stroke of genius. It was intended to show the public the sad evils attendant upon gambling. On the stage, set with all the paraphernalia of the gambling house—roulette, baccarat, etc.—many actors were to be seen playing for high stakes. The audience was made up of people who had passed. The propaganda seemed to be meeting with great success until some jealous rival got into the theater one night and made an awful hubbub next day by complaining to the police that "actors" were well known men about town, that the money they were using was as real as the game itself.

In vain Aristide protested. His place was closed.

Now he doesn't know what to do for ingrate Paris.

SIX CASES INTOXICATION.

City Police Round Up Drunks—One Charged with Assault.

W. J. Morgan, who boarded with Mabel Gage on Academy street, was arrested Thursday night in an intoxicated condition on the complaint of the woman that he had pummeled her and knocked her down. When arraigned before City Judge Everett Holmes he was held in default of $200 bail for assault in the third degree. Brought before City Judge Henry Shore yesterday morning he was given a six month's sentence, which was suspended when he agreed to keep out of the city during that time. Morgan has enlisted in the naval reserves and expects to be called soon for training. He left town last night for Franklin.

John Dana, Ephraim Roberts, George Fitzgerald, Fred Harvey and Charles Hotelling were arrested during the early hours of Wednesday and Thursday mornings charged with public intoxication. When arraigned before City Judge Henry Shore, all pleaded guilty and were given sentences of from 10 to 30 days in the county jail. Sentence in each case was suspended.

Judge Kellogg Speaks at Walton.

Supreme Justice A. L. Kellogg of this city will be in Walton this evening and deliver a patriotic address in connection with the French War exhibit, which has been shown there all this week. In addition to the exhibit itself, there have been speeches nearly every evening by men of prominence in state and nation, and the selection of Justice Kellogg for the closing night is a marked tribute to a well-known son of Delaware.

Was Anxious to Know.

One evening while the family were seated in the living room the conversation was mostly on the subject of guardianship for the grandfather, and several times it became quite a heated debate, which greatly impressed the little three-year-old, Irene. The next morning upon opening her little brown eyes, she sat upright in bed and said: "Mamma, did they get that guardian for grandpa yet?"

Jiu-Jitsu for Girls.

Japanese women never have the backbone, are rarely stoop-shouldered and in endurance equal their brothers. One of the reasons given for this is that the Japanese girls are taught jiu-jitsu wrestling and are made to feel proud of their athletic prowess. Grow men and women practice their jiu-jitsu together and it is not infrequent that the man is worsted.
